

Check Out the Inpatient Behavioral Health Home Page and Website

Inpatient Behavioral Health recently introduced a new home page on LEO and updated information at www.luther-midelfort.org. The home page and Internet pages were designed to inform staff, patients and family members about Inpatient Behavioral Health Services. Information found on the home page and Internet include:

- Treatment program information
- Visiting hours
- How to call patients
- Metal detector information
- Confidentiality agreement information

"For years we were wanting to move up here," Deborah says, adding they had originally thought about something close to Wausau, but once she saw this area she knew this would be perfect for her and her family.

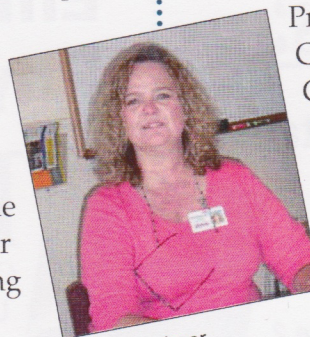

Deborah spotted the position on the Internet, and immediately sent in her resume. She says the biggest challenge she faces now is getting to know the staff, the unit and the ways of the organization. "I'm very excited about my new position," Deborah says. "Although there are challenges ahead, I'm ready for those challenges."

• Virtual tour of the unit
Karlene Phillips, inpatient director, says, "The most important aspect of the website is that it allows others to see pictures of our newly remodeled unit and get a familiarity with it. That can take away some of the mystery about our unit as well as decreasing any fear or anxiety that patients and their family members may experience when seeking treatment."
